Exciting news! Sparkpro Israel, an integral part of the Anna Lindh Foundation Israeli Network, has secured the ALFinMOTION - Anna Lindh Foundation Mobility Programme. Teaming up with Einschlagen Germany, Sparkpro is set to create future exchanges based on their innovative "Living Bridge" Israel-Poland program. The program encourages dialogue between young people and students aged 18-30 from both nations. The project is about breaking stereotypes and building a relationship of trust and understanding.

Sparkpro focuses on developing and operating educational social projects for individuals aged 18-35, emphasizing international connections. Their objectives encompass multicultural dialogue, conflict resolution, dispelling stereotypes, fostering mutual understanding among diverse communities, and expanding historical and social awareness. Sparkpro prioritizes impactful social development projects, building robust networks, and empowering active young leaders.

Scheduled for early 2024 in Israel, a preparatory meeting will shape the vision and logistics for upcoming programs. Themes include intercultural dialogue, solidarity, democracy learning, and sustainability.

The aim? Forge lasting partnerships involving diverse participants from Germany and Israel, focusing on minority inclusion. They'll engage local universities, leveraging academic expertise to enrich the project.

This collaboration promises a blend of methodologies—lectures, local visits, and workshops—to foster connections between social activists and professionals. Stay tuned as Sparkpro paves the way for impactful Mediterranean collaborations!
